

The work of Carl Fabergé and other wondrous stones

Why not make an unforgettable summer trip to The Finnish Stone Center in Juuka, Northern Karelia? You'll find us on Road 6, right next to Koli.

We've put together an exhibition of Carl Fabergé's unique work. Other Russian precious stones and small stone sculptures are also on display. A total of about 200 exhibits make it Finland's best and most comprehensive exhibition devoted to gemstone work.

The exhibition's star attraction is truly sensational: Fabergé's final – and unfinished – Imperial Easter egg. To date, this work has only left Russia once before.

Summer fun for all the family

The Finnish Stone Center is part of the Stone Village, where there's plenty to see and do for both children and adults alike.

Come and see the many faces of stone: the Geo Knowledge Center, the Stone Park and its playgrounds, a historic trail, a Tulikivi and Kermansavi fireplace display, the café-restaurant, as well as the Stone Shop and other outlets, where you can pick up Kermansavi utility ceramics and Kalevala and Lapponia jewelry.

Welcome to our village!

Entrance fees:

- Fabergé exhibition 9 €
- Geo Knowledge Center 7 €
- Combined ticket 14 €

Children's, family and group tickets are also available.

Tulikivi – Because it's a cold, cold world

In the Stone Village, we'll also introduce you to some of Finland's most popular heat-retaining soapstone and ceramic fireplaces. These fireplaces efficiently store heat and then steadily radiate their pleasant warmth over a long period.

New, modern alternatives now complement Tulikivi's classic fireplaces. And Kermansavi's varied and colorful collection gives you the freedom to express your individuality. We'll help you choose the right model and then cement it firmly in place.

And then it's bye-bye, cold world.
